In the Atiyah-Segal construction, one starts with a variety V and the derived category $D^b(V)$ and then produces its "classical" (in the sense of Grothendieck) counterpart which is a smooth variety (often toric) X . The Atiyah-Segal construction is the special case of the derived category of a vector bundle, so the opposite construction would give the derived category of a sheaf. What is the opposite construction? A: Here is what I meant by the opposite. Suppose X is an algebraic variety. Then we want to construct a derived category which has the same properties as $D^b(X)$. Let \mathcal{O}_X be the structure sheaf of X , and suppose \mathcal{Y}
