John Pauker John Pauker, born John Joseph Pauker (June 9, 1921 – January 7, 2016), was a long-time Democratic Party politician in the state of Pennsylvania and was the Pennsylvania Secretary of State from 1973 to 1978. He was elected in 1967 to the Pennsylvania State Senate from the 12th district, in Philadelphia, in a special election for the vacancy created by the resignation of William J. Green to become Secretary of the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (now known as the Department of Health and Human Services) in President Lyndon B. Johnson's cabinet. Biography He was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1921 to a family of Slovak immigrants. He attended the local public schools. After graduating from high school, he entered the Service Army in 1943. He served in the Pacific and was awarded a Bronze Star and a Purple Heart. He later graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, where he studied economics and philosophy. He served in the U.S. Army Reserve and was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. In 1947 he became a member of the law firm of Pauker and Pauker. He worked as a Philadelphia City Councilman from 1956 to 1961, when he was elected to the State Senate. In 1969 he was appointed by the Pennsylvania Governor to the State Highway Commission
