Q: What is a good plugin to build a user interface from a URL? I need to build a small website that allows people to build their own interface for a website (like front end of the website). The interface could look anything like web forms or a full screen GUI with buttons and windows. The main goal is to make it easy for the people to make their own website with their own information. I was thinking that this could be a good app for a niche market. Has anyone built something similar? A: Check out the Google Chrome/Firefox extension Create Page. It has a free version. You can also get it from GitHub. I'm not affiliated with that extension, but I've used it. It's really quite simple. SLC7A1 S589G mutation underlies a rare case of a fatal neurological syndrome associated with hyperhomocysteinemia. An 8-year-old boy presented with severe cerebral atrophy, developmental delay, myopathy, pontocerebellar hypoplasia and progressive course. Elevated serum and urine homocysteine levels were found in the patient, together with the SLC7A1 S589G mutation. A mutation was also detected in a second patient with the same condition but who was a 4-year-old boy. The clinical features, elevated levels of serum and urine homocysteine, and the presence of SLC7A1 S589G mutation suggest that this disorder is caused by a mutation of the SLC7A1 gene that encodes a proton-coupled amino acid transporter for methionine and cystine. We postulate that a deficiency of cystine uptake by the brain, if present in any form of cystinosis, may be responsible for the cerebral and muscle atrophy and the neurological manifestations in this disease.--- author: - 'Martin Jankowiak$^{1}$ and Mariusz Rusin$^{1,2}$' bibliography: - 'rptf-relaxing.bib' date: | $^1$Institute of Informatics, University of Warsaw, Poland,\ $^2$Clermont Graduate University, USA title: 'Relaxing Pseudo-Boolean Formulas' --- This work has been supported by National Science Center grants 2015/ 4bc0debe42
